

#21 Six vs. Seven – The 6th and 7th U.S. Presidents: Both the 6th and 7th Presidents of the U.S. were born in '67, meaning 1767

Key Understanding: The 6th and 7th U.S. Presidents. John Quincy Adams, the 6th President of the U.S. – representing Adam and the creation of man on the sixth day, and representing the number of man, six – was born on July 11, 1767, in Braintree, Massachusetts. Andrew Jackson, the 7th President of the U.S., was born on March 15, 1767, in Waxhaw, South Carolina. Jackson is considered the founder of the modern Democratic Party.

All of the Presidents of the U.S. are in prophecy. This is just the beginning of understanding John Quincy Adams and Andrew Jackson. Not only were the 6th and 7th Presidents birthed in '67, but they each were opponents of one another for the presidency in both the Election of 1824, to elect the 6th President of the U.S., and the Election of 1828, to elect the 7th President. Adams controversially defeated Jackson in 1824 – which is quite a story that has significance to what we are discussing – and Jackson defeated Adams in 1828.

Genesis 1:27 (KJV) SO GOD CREATED MAN in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them.

Genesis 1:31 (KJV) And God saw every thing that he had made, and, behold, it was very good. And the evening and the morning were THE SIXTH DAY.

John Quincy Adams
6th President

Andrew Jackson
7th President
