

#1994 The Yom Kippur War and the Abomination of Desolation – The post-World War II U.S. waxing great toward the South and toward the East as a second Syria/Antiochus IV Epiphanes, part 253, The House of Orange, (xxxi), Repeat of Unsealing #923 about John Witherspoon, the Revolutionary War president of Princeton University and the sole clergyman signer of the Declaration of Independence

Key Understanding (which is similar to that of the previous Unsealing): *Two presidents of Princeton. Two presidents of Princeton University, one during the Revolutionary War (John Witherspoon, pictured on the right, the only ordained clergyman to sign the Declaration of Independence), and one who was the President of the United States during World War I (U.S. President Woodrow Wilson), serve as the focal point of the revelation of Princeton playing a major role in both the Revolutionary War first ascension of America (which we are emphasizing in this Unsealing) and the World War I second ascension of America to become the ‘House of Orange’ Beast out of the England-Netherlands pit.*

Daniel 7:11 (KJV) . . . I BEHELD EVEN TILL THE BEAST WAS SLAIN [warned about through the presaging event of the November 22, 1963, Oswald assassination of John F. Kennedy], AND HIS BODY DESTROYED, AND GIVEN TO THE [eternal] BURNING [House of Orange] FLAME [warned about through the eternal flame placed on the gravesite of John F. Kennedy at his burial on November 25, 1963].

Revolutionary War first ascension of America	World War I second ascension of America
John Witherspoon President of Princeton (1768-1794)	Woodrow Wilson President of Princeton (1902-1910)

Signer of the Declaration of Independence
	President of the United States

Below is a repeat of Unsealing #923 about John Witherspoon, the Revolutionary War president of Princeton University and the sole clergyman signer of the Declaration of Independence.

#923 The Woman is also the John Calvin Church/State – The John Calvinists in the establishment of (the first ascension of) the Beast out of the Pit, part 2, John Witherspoon, the sole clergyman signer of the Declaration of Independence

[Note: This Unsealing is part 2. Part 1 of the above title was Unsealing #921 The Woman is also the John Calvin Church/State – The John Calvinists in the establishment of (the first ascension of) the Beast out of the Pit, part 1, The colonial era Puritans.]

We are sticking with the first ascension of the Beast, but in this Unsealing are concentrating on the Revolutionary War period, rather than the early colonial time frame.

Key Understanding: The sole clergyman signer of the Declaration of Independence. The only clergyman to sign the U.S. Declaration of Independence was a (John Calvin) Presbyterian, the president of (Presbyterian) Princeton University, John Witherspoon (February 5, 1723 – November 15, 1794). He signed as a representative from New Jersey.

John Witherspoon, the Revolutionary War President of Princeton. John Witherspoon was born in Scotland and became a Church of Scotland (Presbyterian) minister. At the urging of Benjamin Rush and Richard Stockton, whom he met while living in the town of Paisley, Scotland, he finally accepted a second invitation to become the president of the Presbyterian College of New Jersey in Princeton, New Jersey. He and his wife emigrated to New Jersey in 1768 when he was 45. He took up the position as the 6th president of the College of New Jersey, which in the 1890's would change its name to Princeton University.

As a native Scotsman, long wary of the power of the British Crown, Witherspoon soon came to support the American Revolution, joining the Committee of Correspondence and Safety in early 1776. He was elected to the Second

Continental Congress and voted for and signed the Declaration of Independence. In answer to an objection that the country was not yet ready for independence, he replied that it “was not only ripe for the measure, but in danger of rotting for the want of it.”

Witherspoon served in Congress from June 1776 to November 1782 and became one of its most influential members. He served on over 100 committees. He spoke often in debate. He helped draft the Articles of Confederation, the constitution before the U.S. Constitution. Years later, he strongly supported the adoption of the U.S. Constitution during the New Jersey ratification debates.

In November 1778, as British forces neared, he closed and evacuated the College of New Jersey (Princeton University). The buildings were nearly destroyed. Witherspoon was responsible for its rebuilding after the war, which caused him great personal and financial difficulty. Witherspoon remained as president of Princeton University until his death in 1794.

Here is #923–Doc 1, which is a list of the presidents of Princeton University. Our concentration will be on the fact that John Witherspoon was the president during the Revolutionary War and Woodrow Wilson was the president in the years leading up to World War I. The position launched Wilson to the Presidency of the United States (1913-1921). Note that the twelve presidents of Princeton University prior to Woodrow Wilson were Presbyterian clergymen.

John Witherspoon statue,
Princeton University

Click here for #923–Doc 1

Click here for the Original Source of #923–Doc 1

This is all a part of understanding that the Woman is that Great City Babylon, and the Woman is also the John Calvin church/state of America.

Revelation 17:18 (KJV) And THE WOMAN which thou sawest IS THAT GREAT CITY [Babylon the Great], which reigneth over the kings of the earth.

<< Previous

Main Page and List of Unsealing Summaries

Next >>