Key Understanding: But 1929 was a turning point. Though the 1917-1918 events of the capture of Jerusalem and the deliverance of Palestine from the Ottoman Turks in World War I birthed the last days building of the Christian-Jewish-Arab Temple, it was 11 years after 1918 – with the event of the 'wall of partition' August 23-24, 1929, Hebron Massacre – that a souring turning point in Jewish-Arab relations would come, around which the future building of the Christian-Jewish-Arab Temple would henceforth historically and prophetically revolve.
