The day the rabbis marched. Rabbi Eliezer Silver was a leader amongst rabbis who marched in Washington D.C. on October 6, 1943, to implore the American government to do all it could to defend and save Jews under Nazi rule. Over 200 rabbis marched from Union Station to the U.S. Capitol in Washington. Silver and a group of his colleagues were introduced to the Vice-President of the United States, Henry Wallace, and some of the Congressional leaders. From the Capitol the rabbis went to the Lincoln Memorial, where prayers were recited in memory of the Holocaust victims. From there they proceeded to the White House.

Key Understanding: Rabbi Eliezer Silver. As was the case with Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver, the Lord used Rabbi Eliezer Silver to confirm America's role as a second (but counterfeit) silver kingdom of Media-Persia (re)birthing Israel. Rabbi Eliezer Silver was instrumental in the rescuing of Jews during the Holocaust and the helping of Jews to immigrate to Palestine after World War II. The "Silver Era" in American Jewry arrived in conjunction with America's role as the silver kingdom in the reestablishment of Israel.

Daniel 2:31-32 (KJV) Thou, O king, sawest, and behold a great image. This great image, whose brightness was excellent, stood before thee; and the form thereof was terrible.
